to deepen your understanding of the ethical challenges of climate justice.

Climate impacts and climate policies create costs that must be fairly distributed globally. A key climate justice question is: Who should bear these responsibilities, and how should they be fulfilled? In this webinar, we will explore the roles of individuals and institutions in addressing climate justice through fair policies, reforms, and responsible actions, highlighting how these principles reflect the values of solidarity and fairness promoted by the European Union. We will also provide insights on teaching climate justice, focusing on the growing issue of eco-anxiety—a growing concern recognized as a policy challenge for the EU—and offering strategies for effectively addressing this topic in the classroom.

This webinar is one of several initiatives carried out by GrACE – Green Europe: Active Citizenship and the Environment, an international teacher training programme led by the University of Trento. It aims to provide educators with comprehensive knowledge of environmental issues and the EU's strategies for tackling the climate crisis, along with innovative methods for teaching about green issues.

Participants with minimum 75% of attendance during the session will receive an official Certificate of Attendance issued by the University of Trento/JM Centre upon request.
