for Children and Communities (P4C).

This talk argues for a philosophical approach to education in addressing the environmental crisis and explores how philosophical pedagogy can be adapted to meet the complexity and scale of this crisis. Reflecting EU priorities on sustainability education and active citizenship, it emphasizes the need for epistemic and ethical responsibility, highlighting how educators can balance freedom and accountability in philosophical enquiry. Practical examples from work with young people demonstrate how to effectively engage with environmental issues while cultivating responsible inquiry.

MODERATOR: Michael Orr

This webinar is one of several initiatives carried out by GrACE – Green Europe: Active Citizenship and the Environment, an international teacher training programme led by the University of Trento. It aims to provide educators with comprehensive knowledge of environmental issues and the EU's strategies for tackling the climate crisis, along with innovative methods for teaching about green issues.

Participants with minimum 75% of attendance during the session will receive an official Certificate of Attendance issued by the University of Trento/JM Centre upon request.
